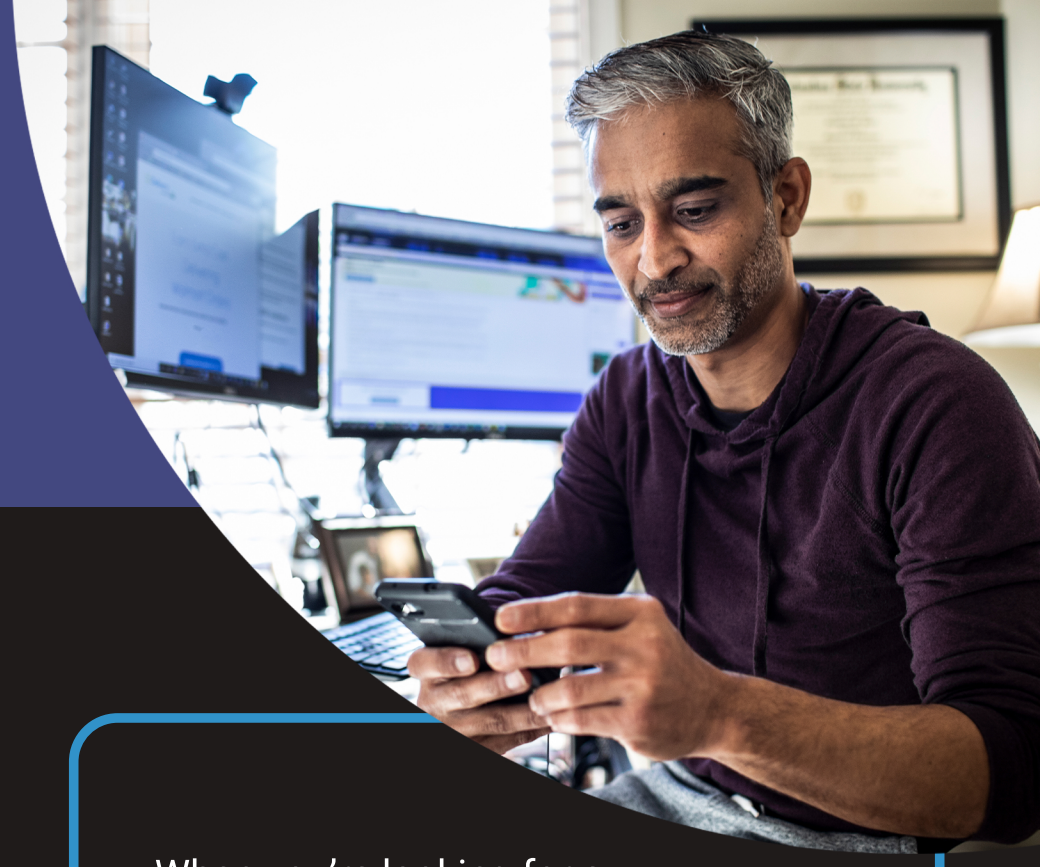
Ocean Insight



Leverage the Consumer Electronics' Experience of a 25-Year Market Veteran.

Choose Ocean's Unmatched Experience in Improving Consumer Electronics.

When you're looking for a the right systems-engineering partner to improve your consumer electronics products, what do you look for? For starters, how about a 25-year legacy of trust and customer experience? Ocean solutions are currently used to inspect and improve millions of consumer products and parts every year.

Plus, our solutions are currently being used in dozens of manufacturing plants — inspecting and monitoring color as well as other aesthetic parameters on millions of consumer electronics — so the level of precision has to be high across each plant. And all at the speed of production.

What's more:

- Our field-support engineers are available to answer questions and provide on-site support
- We can quickly customize our products to meet your unique needs
- We have consistently short lead-times
- Our products are small and easy to integrate into custom systems
- Engineered in the United States
- 25 years of Proven Experience working with some of the biggest names in the business

Ocean is constantly making improvements like these to optimize your customers' experience with their favorite consumer electronics.

Because what we make, makes a difference — to your customers, to your brand, and to your bottom line.

Explore the Ocean website for more information on your consumer electronics production needs.
Or mail us at appliedsystems@oceaninsight.com